

System and Method for Renting or Purchasing Goods via a Communications Network

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a computer implemented method for offering items for sale or rent. The method includes providing a user with the choice of renting or purchasing an item. The rental price and purchase price for the item are displayed. A user command to rent an item is received.